SESSION OF LAST EVENING

The Usual Democratic Straddle Was a Feature of the Proceedings-The Democrats Make a Faint-hearted Defense of the Free Trade and Bevenue Tariffs Doctrines-The Repub-Beans Had the Best of the Argu-

The meeting of the Republican mock legislature at the rooms of the Ohio County Republican club last evening was an immense success both in point of interest and attendance. A pleasing feature was the large number of ladies who made it a point to be present. The large room was crowded throughout the session and everybody seemed interested and at times amused.

The object of the meeting was to dis-cuss the question, "Will the Wilson tariff bill be of advantage to the interests and people of the United States?" The question was debated on either side with greaf spirit.

Mr. Cowden opened the debate by a formal statement of the question, and was followed by Mr. J. H. Burtt (Rep.), who made a masterly address, principally devoted to the immense injury that will result from the free coal which is a feature of the Wilson bill. Though interrogated several times by leading Democrate, he came out with flying colors, and received generous applianse. He was followed by Representative Mart (Dem.), who attempted to answer the arguments of the Republican speaker who preceded him. On the whole it can be said that his alleged answer was very Democratic—otherwise of a straddling style. He professed that a free trade bill, such as the Wilson bill, does not profess to have anything to do with wages, or the building up of industries; the sofe object is the collection of revenue. "Let the rest go." sar the Democrats. "The greatest good to the greatest number" was another familiar phrase of the hackney Democratic kind—let them take care of themselves. Another argument that is frayed at the edges and was thought to show signs of early decay—the cheapest market for the people, was used by the speaker.

Mr. Dunlap (Dem.) next spoke well and to the point, calling this country the "land of the free and the home of the output of the wood growers sampires and monopolists. As is usual with Democrats, he dealt liberally in generalities and lought sphy of facts.

Captain Davison (Rep.) made an excellent speech, devoted principally to the pottery industry, as affected by the tariff bill, which has dealt it a severe blow, and by a man from a state who should be one of its foremost champions. His argument was a lucid one, and explained how the perincious Democrate tariff tinkering will hurt what is one of the most important industries. His concluded the seesion. The argument of the bill being not nearly completed it will be continued at the next meeting of the legislature.

Among those present, who were greatly interested in the povel legislature and the other was a fuel of the bill being

A WORLD'S PAIR EPISODE.

In Which a Wheeling Man Plays a Star Part and Makes Some Fun.

As the story goes, a Wheeling man played a star part in a ludicrous episodo at the World's Fair. The people went in droves to see the precious stone, of great price, known as the Tiffany diamond, because it was exposed to view mond, because it was exposed to view by the great firm of that name.

One day a Wheeling man, with his best girl in tow, joined the procession and in due time arrived within view of the diamond. The man was indulging in rapturous expressions of delight, when the young woman told him in strict confidence that the stone was a great sell. She gaid it was made in one of the Wheeling glass houses and ground on a big wheel in a flour mill. The Wheeling man got back to the West Virginia building as fast as he could and gave the thing away, explaining with much display of knowledge that the great diamond was a great fake. There are frauds in diamonds, but when you buy one of J. W. Grubb you may go your last cont on its absolute purity. Every stone guaranteed. Call at the corner of Market and Twelfth streets and see for yourself.

Another Fine Series.

There are readers who do not want the World's Fairviews having purchased sed other similar souvenirs, or who for other reasons would prefer another sort of work. For these, the INTELLIGINGEN will on Monday commence the printing of a second series of coupons, six of which will entitle one to a part of a line publication of the same high class as the World's Fair portfolios, called, "Sights and Scenes of the World." The details are explained in an advertisement on page 3 of this morning's paper. Samples of these pictures can be seen at the INTELLIGINGER counting rooms. Many, no doubt, will clip both coupons and secure both of these elegant publications at a merely nominal price.
